Blackstone & Co. DRY GOODS

RELIABLE GOODS AT POPULAR PRICES

Smart Suit Styles For Misses and Small Women

Quality and style are features we demand of suits, whether they be for children, misses or women. They must measure up to the Blackstone standard before they are shown to Blackstone patrons. Look through our stock for proof of this statement.

At $20.00, $22.50 and $25.00

We show the newest models in Misses' Tailored Suits. Rough woven diagonals, homespun, tweeds and novelty mixtures in every fashion-favored color combination; also plain colored serges in the popular browns, blues and black.

Marabout Sets—Muffs & Stoles

Marabout is ideal for our Southern California climate. It has the appearance, the style and the warmth of heavy fur, yet is as light as air. The styles we show for the first time today are without question the most stunning ever produced. You must see the line.

Stoles, Muffs and Complete Sets of Marabout. Ostrich and Marabout Combinations. Satin and Marabout Combinations. White and black, white and natural and all natural.

STOLES UP FROM $5.50. SETS UP FROM $27.50.

Handsome Silk Waists $5

Some Worth Up to $12.50

Today brings with it an opportunity for economical buyers to secure a pretty silk waist at a substantial saving. The lot comprises broken lines in taffeta and messaline. There are plain colors, novelty stripes and handsome plaids. Original prices ranged up as high as $12.50. Choice Tuesday $5.00.

White Wool Blankets $5.00

This is no ordinary five dollar blanket; it's so far superior to any we've been able to show at the price, that comparison would be out of the question. Only by ordering in quantities were we able to get the price concessions we did. It's a white blanket of exceptionally fine wool with pink or blue borders and silk binding. Full 11x4 size, $5.00.

TO REPRESENT THIS COUNTRY.

ARTHUR LETTS APPOINTED TO ADVISORY BOARD.

WILL HELP INSTALL A GREAT LONDON EXHIBITION.

INTERNATIONAL HORTICULTURAL SHOW AN EVENT.

Los Angeles is honored in the selection of Arthur Letts to represent America on the advisory board to the commission having in charge the International Horticultural Exhibit to be held at London in 1912. On this board are the King and Queen of England, as well as eminent botanists from every country in the world. Mr. Letts has been chosen both because of the knowledge of American flora and because his love of flowers and trees has prompted the expenditure of a large fortune in the horticultural development of his superb thirty-acre tract near Hollywood.

The great London show is designed as an inspiration to the horticulture of all countries and Mr. Letts has accepted the commission because it will give him a splendid opportunity to make a further study into that subject which has long absorbed his interest. In doing so, his service to California and to the United States will be twofold. He will see that American plants are properly represented to the world's students who assemble at London and he will learn more about the flowers and shrubs of other countries which are suitable to the climates and soils of the different sections of the United States.

Mr. Letts is a rich man who can well afford a hobby and it is a cause for congratulation on the part of the public that his interest lies in a subject which is of profit to everyone. How much money he has spent in making beautiful his grounds at Hollywood, he does not know, but the sum has been large and the result gratifying. The public derived benefit from the rich expenditure of Mr. Letts on his premises in three ways. The grounds as well as the multiplicity of beautiful growing things suited to Southern California. Every plant is labeled with its scientific name and a little later these names will be stamped on iron panels which will preserve them for scores of years. There will be no time for a hundred years to come when the school children of Los Angeles cannot learn more of botany in one day spent in the Letts garden than could possibly be learned from any book.

VOLUMES OF KNOWLEDGE. The total botanical knowledge of the gardens has never been compiled in any single volume. The student and the lover of plants and flowers could spend weeks at this wonderful place with endless pleasure and profit. Either the palms or the cacti on these grounds are so numerous that weeks might be devoted to their appreciation. Mr. Letts has several collections of palms for which he paid from $2000 to $3000 for each group. In some instances single palms in his possession are worth from $1000 to $2000 each. If, indeed, a monetary value could be placed upon them. These groups of palms are in their exquisite beauty and second in the fact that they are exclusive. This means that they are hybrids and sports of his own production and that they have no duplicates in any other garden. That is the way the Lawson carnation was produced. It was brought forward by a London man and when he had perfected it he sold it to Thomas Letts for $2500. It was made his money back by selling slips from this wonderful plant.

The only time Mr. Letts ever refused to indulge himself in any living thing he wanted for his garden, was when a noted London house asked $25,000 for a single plant. Mr. Letts refused to pay for it. It was the only tree of its kind in existence, but Mr. Letts has some of all the members of its family. The araucarias are importations from the Norfolk Islands and are perhaps the most beautiful of all the cypress family. They thrive richly in this climate and are regarded as classics for yard and garden.

Mr. Letts has the largest collection of cacti as far as he has been able to learn in the United States and has never seen a larger in any country. He has in charge of this collection an old man whose interest in the welfare of the plants under his care is so deep and so genuine that there is hardly an hour in the night or day when he does not know the very temperature of every plant.

He never loses one of his treasures and effects his results through his experiments with them. He has asked for more ground for the cacti garden and although Mr. Letts has not ten feet square in all the thirty acres that is vacant, he intends to so arrange it as to share a little of his superb Italian garden with the faithful old cacti man.

He keeps twenty-six men at work on the place year in and year out, but he himself is the head gardener and works in the different gardens of the place every morning from 9 o'clock until after lunch hour. He knows every place on the place and feels that the attention which he gives that tree establishes a personal relation between himself and it.

The one thing he cannot forgive in his workmen is to let a tree perish from inattention. He always feels that his trees can talk to him; he can hear them cry out to him for water, for air, for nourishing soil or for room in which to spread its branches. When he has answered its needs, he can hear its thanks expressed in an outbreathing of gratitude that is almost audible to the outer ear.

This is by no means a matter of imagination. It is the ability to hear the sure voice of plants and flowers with a sympathetic inner ear which makes the genius of gardeners. The wealth of perception no man's touch gives life to what he puts into the earth.

Another thing which gives Mr. Letts profound sorrow in the death of one of his trees is the awful waste of time.

above timber line in the Sierra Madre and in the Rocky Mountains, that forty years are required to produce a growth of only a few inches in some species of cypress, you can realize what a terrible waste it is to permit the death of a tree which has attained the splendid growth of several feet.

All nature runs to lines or curves, everything in the world must be either a straight line or a curve. Beauty always runs to curves. There are a few straight lines in the Letts gardens. Indeed the only straight line on the premises lies between the garage and the shade house and is represented by a cool and lovely pergola shaded by twining leafy things and lined by the herbaceous beds and loses itself in the great new shade house, close to the summer house.

GREAT SHADE HOUSE. This shade house illustrates the daring of Mr. Letts as a gardener, as well as the splendid quality of his imagination. For the sake of the rhododendrons, the philodendrons and the love-lies-bleed which must be protected from the sun, Mr. Letts is having constructed what will perhaps be the most remarkable shade house in the world.

At that little tent of blue that prisoners call the sky

And at every drifting cloud that went with sails of silver by.

Little did Phyllis Roberts, graduate of the University of Washington, del-into the realms of philosophy, student of psychology, and member of a once prominent St. Louis family, believe a brief month ago that she would be living the truth as told in the above stanza from Oscar Wilde's poetic depiction of life within the gray walls of Reading Gaol. Now the spirit of the gay girl, who, in company with her "wonder mate," E. Lambertson and J. W. Robinson, was arrested, charged with uttering a stream of fictitious checks, and led to the County Jail, is broken. Fears are expressed by attaches of the County Jail that confinement may prove fatal to her.

After a joy jaunt.

Pretty, cultured and with the hectic flush of the tuberculosis victim fresh on her cheeks, Miss Roberts was seen in the matron's ward of the County Jail. She admitted she was arrested in Chicago in company with Lambertson and Robinson, with whom she had left Los Angeles on a joy jaunt that included Seattle, Spokane, Boise City, St. Louis, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Detroit and Chicago. She disclaimed all knowledge of the series of crimes charged against her male companions and stated with emphasis that there is not the slightest proof on record of the forged checks against her. To the query, however, as to where the finances for the extended trip were obtained, an upward movement of the eyes was given. Attaches of the District Attorney's office do not seem to think that the charge against the girl in her present state will result in a conviction, and it is believed that she was brought back primarily to force her to divulge proofs of crimes committed by her male companions en route.

Former hotel clerk.

Her confederates, Lambertson and Robinson, are under arrest in St. Paul, where they are awaiting trial charged with uttering a series of worthless checks, extending from Los Angeles to Chicago. Lambertson was formerly a clerk at Hotel Van Nuys, and shortly before his disappearance, confidential secretary to the treasurer of the local branch of the Pacific Wireless Telephone Company.

As such he had access to the finances of the company, and before his departure secured a number of signed blank checks. These, it is charged, he used to finance the eastern joy jaunt, banks in every city touched by the trio, accepting them without question. The trio were finally arrested in Chicago, and Miss Roberts was brought back to Los Angeles for trial, on a charge of uttering forged checks. Lambertson and Robinson were taken to St. Paul, where it is alleged spurious checks to the tune of several hundreds of dollars are held against them.

So much for the crime feature of the case.

When other angles were touched up-

HE RAISED THE FLAG WITH LOADED MUSKET.

Old John Mitrovich, who was famous as the man who held the first Fourth of July celebration in Downey—and held it all alone with a musket in his hands—was buried yesterday.

He was a fine old Slavonian gentleman who came to California many years ago and opened a saloon in Downey. In the early days, Downey and El Monte were settled by unconstructed Johnny Rebs, many of whom had left the South after the war and trekked the long dangerous trail to California on purpose to avoid living so close to the Stars and Stripes.

It is reported that one day an old ranchman was coming down the main street of Downey, and seeing a big American flag strung across the street, rode four miles around to come in at other end of the then country road, to avoid passing under the banner.

No celebration of the Fourth of July had ever been attempted up to the time that Mitrovich settled in the place. When the day drew near and there seemed to be nothing doing, he made a few uneasy suggestions to the effect that it was time to be getting out the flag. He was met with scorn. When he announced his intention of putting out a flag anyhow, he received threats and warnings.

There was only the effect of raising Mitrovich's wrath. He was a thorough American. Early on the morning of the Fourth of July, Mitrovich, grabbed the flag halliards and yanked Old Glory to full mast.

Tradition had it that all day long, the belligerent Slavonian marched up and down in front of his flag pole with a loaded musket on his shoulder waiting for someone to try to pull down his banner. At sundown he let the flag wave down; folded it up, and went back to his saloon and to bed.

He had his first Fourth of July with peace and quiet.

Of course, the feelings of sectional bitterness of the men then fresh from the battlefields of the great war were long since softened or been entirely forgotten. The old Rebs and their children now have their own true red, white and blue Fourth of July with peace and quiet.

Mr. Mitrovich, ran a saloon in Downey for many years and his place was decent and lawful. He was an honest, upright man, according to those who know him well and long.

His funeral yesterday at Evergreen Cemetery was attended by many friends. It was held under the auspices of the Old Fellows and a Slavonian society.

The father of the ill-fated stenographer will give testimony in the case of J. Wesley Weaver.

Wheeler will formally announce the death of Aris Churchill Harvey-Elder.

For Fred Llewellyn, Katherine Gulliver, will testify; for R. L. Sawyer, his brother, Lewis A. Sawyer. For Harry Fynn, Fred Wadsworth, James H. Haggerty, Jr., will appear in the case of one Mrs. Mary Craden.

W. C. Moore for Grant Moore; Chauncey H. Gulliver for John C. Gulliver; Loyal H. Gulliver for Frank Underwood; W. S. Preston for Elmer Prink; William Wason for Ed Wason; Harry D. Ballada for Ed Ballada; L. J. Courdaway for Howard Courdaway; and H. T. Morris for W. G. Tunnell.

For Don R. Johnson, Eugene Carre's members of their immediate families have been summoned, though the names have not been made public.

The examination of these witnesses is expected to consume all of the first day. The exact nature of the subsequent proceedings, said the coroner, will be in the hands of the jury itself.

LAW BLOCKS WAY. DEFEAT FOR AGITATORS.

ANTI-PICKETING ORDINANCE HAS NO LOOP-HOLE.

UNIONITES WITHDRAW PETITION IN NICK OF TIME.

FAILURE MARKS EVERY MOVE TO SMASH IT.

Realizing that further efforts to procure the release of J. J. Williams, a labor union picket, from jail through a writ of habeas corpus prayed for before Judge Willis of the Superior Court, would be of no avail, unionists yesterday requested that their petition be denied.

Their request was just in the nick of time to save them from open defeat in their attack on the constitutionality of the anti-picketing ordinance.

Judge Willis informed them that he had examined their pleadings carefully and had likewise made certain of the law with the conclusion that he was ready to uphold the validity of the ordinance making picketing a misdemeanor, and remand Williams back to jail.

The unionites now assert their intention of appealing to the Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus in the same case. They gave this as a reason for asking to have the action in the court here dismissed.

The only ground which the "special counsel," who are drawing fat salaries from the labor union exchequer, could set upon which to base a petition for the writ in the Superior Court, was that the law under which Williams was held a prisoner was unconstitutional.

The judge set aside a part of yesterday to give them an opportunity to present argument to him to show why their asserted Williams was illegally held as a prisoner.

LAW UPHOLDS IT.

On account of the extreme annoyance which the agitators and "martyrs" have caused the decent citizens, Judge Willis was especially interested in the case and gave it much thought. He examined the statutes and the case establishing precedents, with the result that he could find nothing wrong with the law which was recently enacted by the City Council.

The unionites apparently felt that defeat was in the air, and sought to anticipate it. They intimated that they were not satisfied with the wisdom of Judge Willis' action, and asked a court ruling from the highest court in the state on the question. It is more than likely that they did not care to go to the Supreme Court after they had failed before a tribunal which has so much weight with the higher court.

It was apparent that the judge would have preferred that the attorneys allow the issue to be completed in its natural course, as the law is so clear on the case that it furnishes fine material for a written opinion.

The action of the court can be regarded in no other light than as a defeat for the agitators. It has a comforting effect in showing that the law when picketing was allowed in this city has for all times gone by.

Without this unfair means of carrying on unfair attacks on honest citizens, the power of the fat delegate and those species of beings who suck the life-blood from the laborer to cash themselves, grows dim.

A SERIES OF DEFEAT.

This is but one of a series of defeats which have come to the unionites since they began to "martyr" their pickets. It is just another step toward establishing the right of the decent public to make the lawbreakers behave.

When the anti-picketing ordinance was first thought of, the unionites all dared the city authorities to pass it. When it was ready for action by the City Council, they sent forth their lawyers to defeat it.

When it was spread on the ordinance books, they sent their men out to violate it. When the pickets were taken to the police courts, they tried every means, even intimidation, to defeat the prosecution.

They have met with defeat at every turn, although they have been given every opportunity to be heard, and address any real reasons why their resistance should be heeded.

Williams' case is about on a par with those of the other pickets who have been arrested. The twelve good men and true, found him guilty. As a matter of law, Justice Williams held the ordinance under which he was arrested was constitutional.

YOUTHFUL ROBBER.

Chinese Vegetable Peddler When He Thinks He is Getting Out a Weapon.

Armed with a small automatic pistol, youth said to be about 19 years of age, shot a Chinese vegetable peddler through the arm and robbed another of $10 Saturday night.

Leon Gow of No. 345 Apollonia street, was the first victim. He was driving a wagon past the corner of Fourth and Washington, when he was ordered to hand over his money.

Refused to obey the demand, Gow was hit in the hand by the front of the wagon. Before he could pull out the weapon of change he had clutched, he held up, fearing the peddler was armed for a weapon, shot him in the right wrist. Gow was taken to the Receiving Hospital on a patrol wagon that brought a wagon full of officers to the scene.

The second hold-up occurred at the corner of Seventh and Alvarado streets, the victim being Roy Wain, also a Chinese vegetable vendor of No. 917 Alvarado street. He was robbed of $10, a score of officers and citizens, armed with shotguns and rifles, surrounded the deep ravine near the corner of the first hold-up.

A description of the robber was given by the police by the two victims.

PERMANENT OPPORTUNITIES.

The last of the present series of propaganda meetings by the Esperanza Society of Los Angeles will be held tonight at the study rooms of the society in the Blaisdell building.

The class for beginners, has been forming the past week, and will meet for the first lesson tonight. The regular weekly meetings of the society have been changed to Monday evening at this stage for advanced classes will be conducted. The evening will be open to the public and all persons interested are invited to attend.

FIFTY-FIVE DOLLARS OUT.

Phillips reported to the police that his home, No. 2601 East Street, was entered Sunday and $55.00 was stolen.

THE TIMES GETS THE LION'S SHARE.

Striving mightily to quickly re-establish itself, The Times, two weeks after being crippled by the worst calamity ever suffered by a newspaper, again leaps to the front and leads the newspapers of the world in publishing the greatest amount of paid advertising in one regular edition.

On Sunday, October 16, two weeks after the disastrous dynamiting outrage—

THE TIMES published 9085 inches of advertising. Its two morning competitors published a combined aggregate of 10,842 inches, showing the significant difference of 1757 inches between THE TIMES and the other two added together.

This demonstrates the fact that where results are required, THE TIMES, as before the disaster, stands pre-eminent and gets the lion's share of the advertising business.

NEVER AGAIN. LEAVES KEYS IN THE DOOR.

MANAGER WYATT'S LAPSE PROVES THIEF'S OPPORTUNITY.

Makes Use of It to Rob Private Office and Ticket Department of Mason Opera House—House Ransacked While Family at Theater—Two Indian Motorcycles Stolen.

Will Wyatt, manager of the Mason Opera House, is wondering how he could have been so stupid as to leave his bunch of keys hanging in the front door of his home, No. 813 South Burlington avenue, Sunday night when he let himself in with a latch key. A sneak thief probably thinks the same for he appropriated the keys and used them to rob the ticket booth and Mr. Wyatt's private office.

The watchman discovered the private door of Mr. Wyatt's office open early yesterday morning and investigation shows that $2.65, a gold coin and trinkets had been stolen, while in the ticket office the till had been opened and $1 taken.

P. J. Carr of No. 541 Towne avenue took his family to a theatre Saturday evening and after the play they had supper at a restaurant. When the family reached home they found that a pass key thief had ransacked every room, but the only things taken were an Elgin watch and a pair of safety razors. The police say the thief must have been in the house two hours searching for money and jewelry.

C. W. Riden, the Southern California agent for the Indian Motorcycle at No. 235 West Eighth street, reported to the police that the front door of the place had been jammed and two Indian motorcycles, valued at $250, had been stolen.

WHIRLED BY SHAFTHING.

While fixing a pulley on a revolving shaft in the plant of the City Towel & Supply Co., yesterday morning, W. G. Willis of No. 1261 Girard street, was caught and whirled around for several seconds before the machinery could be stopped. He was taken to the Clara Barton Hospital where it was said he would probably recover. The accident is thought to have happened when Willis' coat, being unbuttoned, was caught in the shafting. He is suffering from a compound fracture of the left leg, two broken ribs, and perhaps internal injuries.

THOSE HIT MUST BEAR IT.

Persons who are unfortunate enough to be injured by machines belonging to the county, and which are negligently driven, must stand their own loss, unless they can recover from the chauffeurs, according to an opinion given the Board of Supervisors by Deputy Dist. Atty. Shaw, yesterday. The question was raised by Mrs. Jennie Bamot. She was run down last summer, while driving in a buggy, by an automobile which is used by the Highway commission. She demanded reparation for her injuries from the county, asserting that the driver of the auto was careless.

TEMPORARY RESTRAINER.

A temporary order was granted in Department Five yesterday, in behalf of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company and the Southern California Edison Company, to restrain the city of Los Angeles from enforcing what is known as the license ordinance, until the case recently decided in that court can be carried up and decided on appeal. The amount of the bond was not fixed, but it will be sufficient to indemnify the city in case the action of the lower court is approved by the Court of Appeals.

Men! Here's Your Opportunity

$60,000 Lowman Stock Brand New High Class Fall Clothing, Hats and Furnishings at Clean-Cut Bona-Fide

25% Reduction

This drastic action is forced on us by the fact that we've leased half our store--and cannot possibly accommodate all the new fall goods we have purchased.

Though this is but the opening of the season--when every merchant rightly expects to get top prices--we are compelled by lack of room to store our new goods, to sacrifice 25 per cent.

This is no scheme nor dodge to corral more than our share of business--if you'll come down here and investigate, you'll find what we say to be true. We've crowded the enormous stocks from our former immense floor space into less than half the space it would properly fill--and we're absolutely overwhelmed.

Not an article in our $60,000 stock is excluded--and not a price ticket has been changed one iota. As a matter of fact, we are actually selling some merchandise in this sale at exactly what it cost us in New York City.

OVERLOOKS OVER HARBOR.

NAVY MAKES NO COMMENT.

TO DISCUSS FORTI-FICATION PLANS.

OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TODAY.

of the Navy Meyer saw Secretary of the Navy at San Pedro. What he may have seen beyond an expansion of the harbor and a building some along the shore he alone can tell.

He has not told. The Secretary has no qualities which have made him a place of prominence in the various capacities in which he has served.

John T. Gaffey of San Pedro, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and other officials, were present.

Joseph Scott of the Chamber of Commerce and other officials, were present.

He did say that the Pacific Coast would undoubtedly get a fleet as soon as there are facilities for stationing one here. He suggested that the opening of the Panama Canal would do much toward furthering the naval protection of the Pacific Coast as it will keep the navy more nearly intact while it may be separated in the stationing of squadrons.

Secretary Meyer spent the morning after his arrival from the North in making an automobile trip through Pasadena. He was accompanied by J.
C. Drake and J. S. Torrance. He expressed himself as greatly pleased with a view of "the garden spot of the world."

FISHING THIS MORNING.
This morning Secretary Meyer is supposed to be fishing in the waters of Avalon Bay. If good wishes were fishes he should break the angling record there for every member of his escort wished him the greatest success in a successful career as the Perry steamed out to sea. On his return he will be given a luncheon at the Alexandria by the Chamber of Commerce, the hour being 2 o'clock today. The affair was arranged rather hastily after the committee had learned of Secretary Meyer's plans and all members of the Chamber of Commerce are requested to make arrangements early today. The number of guests is limited to 50. The luncheon will be informal. Secretary Meyer declining an invitation to speak. President Scott will preside, and the toasts will be given. In the afternoon the Secretary will be taken to Bolsa Chica for the Wednesday morning duck shooting. From there he will go to San Diego.

HEART GIVES OUT.
Henry Stewart, a resident of San Pedro, was found dead Saturday night in the toilet room of the B. & L. saloon, No. 429 South Spring street. The body was sent to the coroner's establishment of Bruce Bros. Death is believed to have been caused by heart trouble.

OLD SAYING PROVES FALSE. YOUNG GROOM FINDS ALL'S NOT FAIR IN LOVE.

Ocean Park Lad, Who Overstates
His Age When Applying for Marriage License, Is Held to Answer for Perjury—Relatives Interfere
When Facts Leak.

Cupid received a body blow from Justice Baird yesterday. The magistrate held that the worshippers of the little god are not immune when they swear to material facts which are false, even though they do so merely to assist in obtaining a marriage license.

The decision was rendered at the completion of the preliminary hearing of Paul M. Robinson of Ocean Park, on a charge of having committed perjury in securing a marriage license.

He is alleged to have sworn that he was 23 years old, when he had not reached his nineteenth year.

After getting the license, Robinson married Elizabeth B. Tolles. They lived together in apparent peace until relatives of hers found out about the match and also took exception to the fact that he was alleged to be living in peace and plenty at her expense.

The girl recently fell heir to a fortune of considerable size, having received a legacy at the death of her grandmother, and several thousand dollars' insurance when her mother died.

The relatives petitioned the Superior Court for a guardian for the young woman, alleging that she was feeble minded. Then they learned that she had a legal one in the person of her husband. Proceedings were immediately begun against her husband on the perjury charge.

Rev. Dwyer testified yesterday to having married the couple, and a deputy county clerk swore to having in-sued the license, and taken Robinson's oath. Justice Baird ruled that the defendant would have to stand trial in the Superior Court, and stay in jail until that time unless he could furnish $1000 bail.
